Dedication

As each year appears and makes its way, day by day, into the past, we try to show our appreciation to one member of the faculty who has helped to make that year be a more enjoyable one for us. As the class of 1940 makes its exit, we wish to express our gratitude by honoring one whom all of us respect and admire. For twenty-one years he has been with us; every day he has been the same generous, cheerful person, interested primarily in us and our problems. At any time of day he has been willing and eager to help us, and it seems that his patience with us is inexhaustible. Observing his courteous ways, we have seen how his thoughts seem always to be centered on the welfare of those about him. We have noted his keen sense of what is right and fair, and have tried to follow the excellent example he has set for us. Knowing him to be one of the worthiest wearers of the "W", we, the staff, are proud to dedicate this, our "W" Book of 1940, to Mr. Howard T. Griffith.

Why—

WHEN we turn our thoughts back upon the days crowded with the successes and failures that have been ours in Wilkinsburg High School, there comes to mind a series of events happily associated with the letter "W". At the football games we have seen it on the uniforms of the players and cheerleaders; in our basketball games and track meets and intramural sports, it has been proudly borne to glory. We have seen it upheld by our band and orchestra, displayed in our class plays and music festivals; and we have realized that Wilkinsburg is outstanding not only in sports but also in the arts as well. We have seen it stand out in our chapel services which constitute a delightful part of our school life. Always it has signified not only "Wilkinsburg" but also "Worth". The worth of true friendships, of knowledge sought and gained, of close association with those who have sought to guide us and instill in us a resolve to always be worthy of Wilkinsburg High. Thus it was that we chose this letter for our theme because it is a symbol that will always recall to us with pleasure the activities with which it was connected.

On the next page under the title "Where", which is our way of saying "Table of Contents", you will find briefly outlined the inside story of the worth of Wilkinsburg. On the cover you will find the most familiar of school sights—the scholastic and athletic "W", on a student sweater, a colorful reminder of high school days.

Sincerely,

THE EDITORS.

The Worth of the Individual

THERE is only one of us in the world. No two people are alike, no two people have exactly the same ability or aspirations. Everyone has a different environment. Since there is only one of us, each should strive in every way possible to improve his individuality. We should make every effort to develop our bodies and our minds to the highest efficiency, to acquire pleasing personalities, and to try to make ourselves useful members of society. To develop this individuality, let us use our associations—our school, both lessons and activities, our homes and our churches, and any other influences in our lives. Each one of us is responsible for the growth of himself—the only one of his kind in the world

In the Principal's Office

WHAT work we do and how we spend our school time throughout the year is planned in general by Mr. Carson in his office. For in this main office familiarly known to all of us comes the general policy of the high school program. Here credits earned are checked and recorded, here seniors are scheduled, graduation planned, applications made for scholarships honor pins given out, chapel programs planned and many other things which affect the school and its policy as a whole.

No matter what the problem of the day is, or what the emergency may be, every one can find a friendly interest here from Mr. Carson, our principal, who so cheerfully greets us with a sympathetic smile of understanding.

FROM the first school day when a student enters the long line waiting for locker keys to the last week when he returns the key, he finds Mr. Getter's office a helpful place. Here, he not only gets his locker keys, but also his admission slip when he is late or forgets his absence excuse, and, alas, when he finds himself in trouble. Here are checked the attendances of students. Here are issued early dismissal slips. Here, too, are filed the master cards whereby every student may be readily located.

The genuine friendliness with which Mr. Getter answers all our questions, the pleasure he takes in helping us, and his interest in all our problems make him one of the most respected persons in school.

The Dean's Office

Few indeed are the girls in W. H. S. who do not visit Miss Reitz's office frequently. Thither they bring their hurt fingers, their torn stockings, and, sadly enough, their misbehavior records; but more than this they bring their joys, their hopes, and plans. The contents of her medicine chest, plus her delightful humor and her sympathetic understanding, is a balm for any trouble and an inspiration for well-doing. Here in a filing chest on the desk are kept the schedules, future ambitions, activities, best friends, addresses, and names of the parents of every girl. Here are kept the health books to which girls must refer several times in their high school career for a health assignment. Thus, Miss Reitz has made her office a place of importance to every girl who wishes to get the full worth of Wilkinsburg High School.

Guidance Office

ONE of the first offices the sophomores visit is Mr. Ege's. They stand in long, straggling lines outside his door waiting to have the mysteries of their schedules explained. Here they wait in line again in their junior year for Mr. Ege to approve their choices of courses. Here the intelligence tests of the sophomores and seniors are filed away in the forbidden recesses of the brown filing chest. Toward the end of their last year, hordes of seniors come here to leaf through the numerous catalogues which represent almost every American college in existence. Mr. Ege helps them to decide on their college by outlining the opportunities each one presents. Here the scholarship-seekers come for advice toward realizing their desires. Here, as far as scholastic achievement is concerned, is guidance to the nth degree.

Our Native Tongue . . .

THE English department serves a feast fit for any king. The table is adorned with the choicest flowers of the English tongue and to it are brought the finest foods that England and America have to offer. There is something to suit every taste: hearty dishes that make good red English blood, delicate morsels and tempting bits for more refined appetites, and all spiced with many a witty phrase.

The first course consists of a generous helping of Shakespeare. Following this ancient English dish come servings of Scott and Eliot. The clever and original garnishes bring much comment and serve to put everyone in a happy mood.

With the next course comes another Shakespearian dish, one that should be familiar to everyone—Julius Caesar. Then, too, there are tempting myth salads known to the Greeks and seasoned with the oils and spices of Rome. As no dinner would be complete without some distinctly American dishes, we find many that delighted the early colonists and some prepared from recipes handed down from the great patriots Washington, Webster, and Lincoln. Others are as modern as our own time and for these we must thank Sandburg, Benet, Millay, and some of our newer friends.

The concluding course brings to the festive board choice desserts made famous by the great chefs Chaucer, Shakespeare, and Addison. These always find favor no matter how frequently they are served, and provide a perfect finish to a splendid repast. We rise to the toast, "May our mental shadows never grow less."

As the feast progresses, everyone gets better acquainted, tongues are loosened, and even the most reserved forget themselves and delight us with their own clever stories and poems. So the "hungry" are satisfied.

"Every language is a temple in which those who speak it are enshrined."

Whether we are what our parents are annoyed or not to hear their sweet children practicing on them with, "Ich weiss nicht," or "Donnez-moi le sucre, s'il vous plait," and especially when "Yo no comprendo, Senorita" is given as a reply when mother suggests that the dishes need to be washed. However, we are only trying by this method to gain a little practice in fluent foreign speech.

For the student who wishes to learn the fundamentals of all language study a two, three, and four year course in Latin is offered. After the routine grammar he may study wars with great Caesar, speech with Cicero, and follow the Trojan Aeneas amid strange adventures and thrilling experiences.

Language

For those who especially like French the course offers three years study in grammar and in the various types of French literature. A short history of France, short stories, a novel, dialogues, and plays are read and enjoyed.

For the lovers of the land of Heine there is offered a two year course. Following a general grammar study, are stories of German life which are read with interest.

Then for the student who dreams of castles in Spain there is a two year Spanish course where he may learn the customs, the geography, and literature of old Spain.

Although the vocabularies are pesky and the grammar sometimes a necessary bore, there is much satisfaction in being able to speak even a phrase or two in a foreign tongue. But there is joy and delight when "we become acquainted with a foreign language and are led into a new world of thought and feeling."

History Repeats Itself . . .

HISTORY DEPARTMENT

CÆSAR, Cleopatra, Napoleon, Washington, Henry VIII and even the Neanderthal man become close acquaintances of every history student. The progress of man in the infancy of the world, how he coped with the harshness of his environment, and how he learned to improve the crude tools he used, form the background of the course. Continuing this study in chronological order the customs, governments, and wars of European countries are investigated. Dates, names, and the opposition and defense in all the wars are provocative urges to the struggling pupil to try to remember it all. To top it, he usually remembers unimportant things as who threw the first stone or fired the opening shot of an undecisive battle. The most fascinating subject is the eternal conflict concerning thrones and the rise and fall of kingdoms, but even then the usual nightmare of dates arises. American history which, naturally enough, is not too far removed from us, is especially interesting. The story of the struggle of the early colonists is filled with fiery adventure and lively romance. In economics, the history of commerce in the United States is studied, whereby a student discovers the underlying reasons for the various conditions which existed in our country. This detailed study of history gives one an excellent insight concerning present-day affairs. The what, the when, the where, and the why of history may seem difficult to some but it is mighty interesting to most of us. If history repeats itself we hope to be able to anticipate the repetition and profit thereby.

MISS SARA PARSON
Speech Director

"Speech, finely framed, delights."

THAT future Barrymores and Cornells may be found, the sophomores learn how to talk with ease and good English before an audience. Presentation and extemporaneous speeches are given during the course of study. If a student finds that he has talent or if he enjoys speech interpretation, he continues in this work in his junior year and reads aloud many excerpts from prose for practice in voice inflections and tone. As a senior he may elect to continue the work, concentrating more upon play production. Here he works with his classmates, observing all stage directions and movements. These productions of plays are the most advanced drama study in high school.

At their easels, the art students hold their palettes and apply the oils skillfully to their canvasses. They experiment with and study every phase of art, working with charcoal, tempera colors, pastels, and ink. Often a student is chosen for a model for those of his fellow classmates who are especially interested in portraiture. As a result of their work, these art students are often the winners of valuable prizes in contests sponsored by large publications and colleges. In mechanical drawing, the drawing boards are cluttered up with T squares, drafting instruments, and drawing paper. Great care is taken in carrying out the plans for the drawing and letters are proportionately made.

The band, the orchestra, the choir, beginning and advanced choruses, and classes in harmony and music appreciation offer excellent training in music. From the combined groups come our music festivals, concerts and the music of our chapel programs.

CHOIR

THE Wilkesburg High School A Cappella Choir has, by its splendid singing, established itself as one of the finest choruses in Western Pennsylvania. Contributing daily to the beauty of our chapel, it assists at many community programs. Its schedule of concerts takes it to a number of churches and schools; it broadcasts a concert from Carnegie Music Hall yearly. The hard work, willingly done, makes the choir a successful organization.

BAND

While the Band has a place in our school and community that makes it dear to everyone. At our football games and at our pep meetings, its marches and songs contribute to our enthusiasm; in our parades it has won many prizes for its precision and ability and in our hearts, its music has become associated with the happiest and most memorable days of high school life.

COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT

Some of the new words that are connected with commerce. Dictaphones, mimeographs, comptometers, and stereotypes are commonly used in the commercial student's tongue-twisting vocabulary. Almost every student spends two years acquiring skill in typing business letters of all forms and budgets and letters with carbon copies attached. In office practice, typing is used in conjunction with new, queer-looking machines which save hours of time and energy in the ever-rushing business world. One truly essential time-saver of commerce is shorthand. A sheet covered with this script looks as unintelligible as a child's scribbles, but a commercial student looking at it and tracing the curious figures with the tip of his pencil produces a sane English sentence. How to become a good salesman is taught in a one year course including the things one learns at home plus buying motives and selling points, all of which will eventually make one a successful businessman. The sources, manufacture, and cost of everyday living necessities are studied in commercial geography, and in commercial law one studies the origin and maintenance of laws controlling the amount and quality of these necessities. Bookkeeping students carry great folders of clearly lined and figured pages that cost hours of time to make. These papers are ledgers and cash books and journals which, to be accepted, must be neat, for neatness is the most necessary quality involved in this course. A student taking all courses offered in the commercial department could not be otherwise than well prepared for a career in the business world.

SCIENCE DEPARTMENT

THAT day rarely passes during which some science something funny or absurdly tragic. Still, the three labs do see more hard work during the year than a concentration camp. One may see a horde of biology students with their jars and bottles collecting flowers, bugs, and insect bites; while anxious seniors heat glass tubing, create horrible smells with their weird concoctions as they burn their fingers. Meanwhile, in the math lab, beside the work, one may see students mopping up puddles of water as the price of an undependable stopper. However, their greatest trial seems to be calculating, which covers more sheets of yellow paper than problems of a math class.

In the laboratories there is always a terrific amount of work to do and a lot of fun and excitement in doing it.

MATHEMATICS

Let some student think that the purpose of mathematics is to use quantities of paper to wear down pencil points, we are told that it is taught in the mathematics department of the academic students. Algebra, plane geometry, solid geometry, and trigonometry are studied by students who wish to enter the field of science and engineering. Here they learn to work with squares, rulers, and compasses learning how to find the area of circles, etc., and to prove old axioms, as "things equal to the same thing are equal to each other." For students who do not need geometry and algebra as prerequisites for college entrance, there are offered practical courses in shop math and business arithmetic. At times problems seem a bit unpractical as finding the value of the elusive unknown "x". Again they are fascinating as can be, proving both entertaining and useful.

OUR CHAPEL

The most interesting feature of school life for students of Wilkesburg High School is made by chapel services. By coming to the auditorium a half hour every day for three years, they have learned to love this simple ceremony more than any other part of school life. A prelude by the organ, a Scripture reading, the Lord's Prayer, responses by the choir, and a hymn—this constitute their worship. Because of its simplicity, nothing that the students and alumni have found seems to equal it in charm and beauty.

The privilege of leading chapel is held by the seniors. Probably none of them will ever forget a single detail of the service or program the day they led. Especially to be remembered are the special chapels held before Armistice Day, Christmas, and Easter. Representing the best in school spirit, our chapel is truly worthy of remembrance.

Physical Education

Physical education has a very important place on the school schedule. One period of health and two periods of gym a week are the minimum requirements for all students. In health class, which is devoted to study of the human machine, a passing grade is necessary for graduation. In contrast to this brainwork, gym offers a program of calisthenics, tumbling, handball, basketball, volleyball, and mushball. These, however, mainly serve as stimuli for students to participate in intramural sports. Fencing and ping-pong are rapidly becoming as popular as the older intramural activities—basketball, tennis, volleyball, and swimming.

and bowling, and the girls have riding and modern dancing. To those boys with brawn and skill, who excel in tumbling, the gym club offers a chance to perfect their art. If he is fortunate enough to win two events in interscholastic competition, a member receives a varsity letter. The girls have their Leader's Club and those who have received one hundred points in gym and intramural activities are eligible for election to membership. With all these opportunities and the use of a good gymnasium, students find it to their advantage and enjoyment to engage in some kind of sport.

Rah, Rah, Football, Rah! . . .

WITH only an inexperienced group of reserves to support the ten returning lettermen, the prospects of bettering last season's fine record of only one loss appeared slim. Injuries were certain to play a large part in deciding the success of the team, and fingers were accordingly kept crossed.

The forward wall, remaining intact for the entire season, was a veritable "seven blocks of granite." Branzel at center, flanked by Jaffurs and Schoonover at the guards, McKnight and Hasselman at the tackles, and the wingmen, Daugherty and Scott, threw fear into the ranks of all opponents. Whenever the latter seemed to be gaining confidence, Sil Aiello was rushed in to convey the commands of Coach Bohren. At a call from Anderson, the three minute-men swung into action. Moody, Mitchell, and Minter (who joined the triumvirate after the services of Martha were lost) formed an unbeatable backfield until injuries finally caught up with them. After playing through the first seven games, Mitchell and Moody from the bench watched Latrobe gain a tie.

THE GAMES

Coach Bohren unveiled his 1939 aggregation of gridders for the delight of homerooters and the disappointment of those who had hoped for a game as close as in the two previous years. In fact, the "no contest" sign was hung out before many minutes of play had been completed. Fumbling often and getting nowhere against our veteran first team, Verona's weak and inexperienced eleven could do no better when the second-stringers were substituted. Score: Wilkinsburg 33, Verona 0.

The team moved on to its initial Class "AA" struggle, and overpowered a strong Norwin opponent. The powerful Burg running attack sparked by the "Three Minute Men," Martha, Moody, and Mitchell, kept Norwin on the defensive for most of the game, although they scored a consolation touchdown in the last minutes of play. The climax of the game was a fifty-five yard jaunt by Martha for our final touchdown. Score: Wilkinsburg 22, Norwin 7.

Taking time out from a tough section schedule, the tigers met and conquered Oliver High from the City League. Deprived of the services of Al Martha because of ineligibility, the "Minute Men" acquired a new addition in speedy Bob Minter, whose running and pass-receiving turned the game into a rout. The decisiveness of the victory was significant as Oliver went on to remain unbeaten in her league. Score: Wilkinsburg 32, Oliver 0.

Last year it was Turtle Creek who stopped the team's winning streak at four straight; this year they were not able to repeat their achievement. After the Creeker's early thrust was halted, the game settled down to a struggle between two strong lines, until in the second period when Minter grabbed a thirty-five yard pass from Mitchell and raced another thirty across the goal. From then on Wilkinsburg was never headed. Score: Wilkinsburg 12, Turtle Creek 2.

The addition of the Little Presidents to this year's trio of away games proved no small hurdle for the Red and Blue machine to clear. During the first half Wilkinsburg continually held possession of the ball deep in enemy territory but never could secure the needed punch to push it over. However, in the third and final frames two Washington fumbles were converted into as many scores. A passing attack unleashed by the home team failed to overcome this margin. Score Wilkinsburg 12, Washington 6.

PENN TWP. - LATROBE - SWISSVALE

All who witnessed this affair will remember it as one of the most exciting games ever played at Graham Field. You saw an underdog Penn High fight to protect a precious lead of one point and valiantly withstand every effort of the Red and Blue to score until three minutes remained.

Then with the ball on Penn's ten yard line, Minter brought the crowd to its feet when he fumbled, left his interference, and scampered across the goal. The demoralized defense of the visitors collapsed after this, and yielded a final touchdown. Score: Wilksburg 20, Penn Twp. 7

Scott loomed up as a distinct threat to our unblemished record. On a cold, muddy field which hampered both passing and running, Wilksburg's drives started slowly but soon gathered momentum. The Bohrenmen smashed over four touchdowns, two of them scored by plunging Moody, who capped his performance with a dash of eighty yards to the goal. It was the first victory over our rivals from North Braddock since relations between the two teams were begun ten years ago. Score: Wilksburg 28, Scott 0.

This is the game that probably still is being replayed in the minds of those who saw it. Hopes for victory had been dimmed by injuries which crippled the team and forced its sparkplug, John Moody, to ride the bench. Nevertheless, we fought the wildcats with determination, yielded every yard grudgingly, and came close to pulling the game out of the fire with a thrilling last-minute drive. Although all chances for a championship went with the closing gun, the Tigers still remained undefeated. Score: Wilkinsburg 0, Latrobe 0.

Against our traditional rivals, the team rebounded from the depths of despair of the previous week to close the season victoriously. Although no quarter was given by either team, the Tigers' superior line paved the way for victory. Outstanding was the punting of Hasselman, whose mighty effort resulted in one climactic, tremendous boot of eighty-nine yards—the longest ever seen at Graham Field. Revenge tasted doubly sweet to the Red and Blue as they rang the curtain down on a brilliant season. Score: Wilkinsburg 25, Swisavale 6.

BOWLING

Boys who like to bowl all year round and can spare Friday afternoon of every week are almost certain to join the Bowling League. Besides being able to play cheaper, members have an opportunity to pit their skill against good opposition. The League is divided into twelve teams, each consisting of five boys. This year the facilities of the Casino Bowling Alleys were used and a cup was offered by the management to the winning team. In addition, the roller of the highest average received a prize. After electing Bob Levis president and Richard Russell secretary, the club saw that two teams each week set up the pins. The boys concluded their season with a game with the Faculty and a Banquet.

TENNIS

Sparked by the return of four of the previous year's five lettermen, varsity tennis brought fame, glory, and a WPIAL championship to Wilkinsburg. Jack Merchant, Steve Harwig, Charles Felmley, and Harry Fritz were back from the team that had almost won the WPIAL title the year before. The two former fought the singles matches, while the latter pair played the doubles. As victories were amassed student interest in the team correspondingly increased. The completion of their schedule without the loss of a set vaulted our netters into the playoffs. Although the Championship set was not decided until the final set with Greensburg, the team's superiority rested unchallenged.

BASKETBALL

PLAYING their first season under the tutelage of Mr. Shupe, the basketball team was unable to throw off the jinx which has been pursuing them for a few years. After a victory was chalked up over W. P. S. D. in the second game, the remaining fourteen contests found Wilkinsburg on the bottom of the score. It was not until the middle of the season that a consistent scorer—Bill Lane—was uncovered. Two things—the lack of height and experience—were handicaps which the team could not overcome. However, a year's growth added to this year's experience should produce a winning team next year.

FENCING

A of Pittsburgh and practically all other opposition in the district deserves recognition. Fencing is fast becoming one of the most important of interscholastic activities because of the honors it has brought to our school. In this sport the boys find the girls their equals for the club is open to all who wish to train. Those in the club spend most of the season practicing for a tournament held in the spring, and earning points toward chevrons. Those who make the greatest showing are selected to represent the school on the fencing team. Although there is no official W. P. I. A. L. fencing league, Wilkinsburg is ambitiously drawing up a charter for such an organization. Under Mr. Smith's fine coaching, the fencing team has won honors equal to the other interscholastic teams.

HANDBALL

Handball is one of the fastest intramural games and a good one for muscle building. Throughout the year boys train as a part of their gym work, and as preparation for the spring tournament. In this there will be about fifty hopefuls playing in a tournament in which each one hopes he may be able to dethrone Don Melaney, the present champion.

SWIMMING

With the usual amount of splashing and squealing, their summer coats of tan still dark, girls of the beginners and advanced swimming classes swam in the Junior High Pool several hours almost every afternoon in the fall. To judge by the noise, everyone had an uproariously happy time splashing, diving through inner tubes, screaming, and walking on their hands in shallow water. It is the most informal of the intramural sports, as well as one of the most delightful.

INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL

Not every boy who enjoys playing basketball can make the Varsity Squad. For these, intramural basketball affords a chance to participate in the sport without having to undergo the rigors of training and practicing. Then too, the group serves as a training for possible future varsity players. Thus much fun and a healthy spirit of rivalry is created.

TRACK

THE TRACK TEAM in 1939 met the record of the teams of the other years. For the second consecutive year our team won all meets with individual schools but placed second in the inter-borough meet. Mount Lebanon proved to be our undoing by twice beating us in the triangle meets. Outstanding individual performers were Jim Lynch, who broke the school record in the discus throwing, and Bob Connelley, a miler who as a sophomore was a winner in an event in one of the inter-borough meets. The record book for complete track score was lost, so a complete score cannot be recorded here.

Exercise for Health . . .

GIRLS' GYM

WITH the emphasis upon gym work for all our girls, athletic programs seem to have proven the theory that exercise is the basic principle of health. Several years ago varsity or interscholastic sports were discontinued for girls so that every girl may have more and better opportunities to find joy in exercise. So each girl is permitted to select the type of gym work she likes or is best fitted to do. Three general groups are offered: athletics or the so-called sports—hockey, volleyball, basketball, mushball; gymnastics or floor work, as group exercises and gymnastic drills; and modern or interpretive dancing. Specializing in sports, the athletic group works strenuously to improve their speed and skill in the various games. Acrobats take great delight in displaying nimbleness in their stunts—as pyramid building, turning cart wheels, and tumbling. In the modern dance group, the girls not only learn modern dance steps of the ballroom, but also use these and others to interpret a story they wish to tell. Because the girls have the privilege of selecting their gym activity, gym work becomes fun instead of work.

CROSS COUNTRY

A RELATIVELY new sport in our high school, cross country has rapidly come into its own—ranking in the same field of scoring sports—track and field sports. This year it attained the rank of a varsity sport. The team this year, which is quite young, since it is composed mainly of juniors, placed fifth in the W. P. I. A. L. meet, and sixth in the Western Regional Championship. Their position in the latter, however, enabled Henderson, Connelly, and Dimond to qualify for the state meet.

PING PONG

After a period of decline, the popularity of ping pong, or table tennis, now exceeds that of most other indoor sports. A club was initiated and for the first time in Wilkinsburg a championship tournament was held. Every day after school in room 201 could be seen a group of boys waiting their turn amid the noise of the quick pats-pats of the ball as it was batted with almost lightning speed back and forth across the table. In the finals, Don Burroughs outpointed Dan Moses to be proclaimed "King of Ping Pong." D. Moses opposed McKechnie in the semi-finals and was victorious in a hard struggle 26-24, 21-19, 17-21, 21-17. D. Burroughs took three straight from R. Catarineila 21-13, 21-9, 21-15. These semi-finals paved the way to a clash between D. Burroughs and D. Moses for final honors. Thirty-two boys signed up for the contests. The games were played in earnest and all rules observed. Teachers as well as students showed interest when they quite frequently stopped in 201 to watch the games.

LEADERS CLUB

How proud we are that girls of today are stronger and healthier than the girls of fifty years ago who were frequently wasp waisted, frail, fainting bits of humanity. This improvement is due to the greater interest in athletics and in acquiring skill in playing games. In our school girls who excel in sports and who by their skill in athletics earn the required number of intramural points are eligible for election to the Leaders Club. By participating in hockey, basketball, tennis, baseball, swimming, and badminton, these girls know what good sportsmanship is and constantly try to possess that quality. Each intramural sport for girls is given a special number of points. When a girl receives one hundred points for her participation in these sports and retains a C average or above in her scholastic work her name is placed upon the eligibility list for membership in the Leaders Club. The girls already members elect new girls from the eligibility list. The most important concern of this club is the Gym Exhibit, and the girls work industriously in order to give us the best performance possible. Minor duties of these girls are taking roll in gym classes, checking purses, recording showers, and being a general help to the gym teacher.

The Book of The Year . . .

IN A ROOM whose walls are covered with pictures and maps of the old Roman Empire and whose black-boards are smudged with chalk dust and untranslated Latin sentences, the literary Annual staff works. The Latin atmosphere does not do much but awaken inspiration and bring the struggling writer's mind to action. The mounters don't notice the Latin for they are busy with drawing lines on paste board, cutting pictures with their little paper cutters, and getting their fingers all sticky with some disagreeable smelling glue. Typists come in and out, forever burdening the proof readers with more work. The proof readers are always huddled in a back corner a little aloof from the usual hub-bub so that they can hear themselves talk. The photographers are usually dashing in, taking some queer-shaped object from their locker, and scurrying out again.

When they bring in their finished products, everyone, even the aloof proof readers, huddle around them to examine and approve the pictures, angles, and action shots. If one listens closely during this confusion, one hears the photographers' technical discussion of the lighting, shadows, camera speed, film, and such things that the on lookers can scarcely comprehend.

Early in the fall, there is the task of juggling the underclassmen by home rooms to form groups of similar sizes for pictures. Then comes the tedious job of naming the individuals in the pictures. The identifiers truly come to know the whole student body since they must make the tiny faces which appear in the pictures of sophomores, juniors, and club groups correspond with the names on the alphabetical lists. And oh the headaches that result from double checking the spelling of all those names, for who knows whether the name is Bette, Bettie, or plain Betty?

In another room, more remote, the business staff checks and rechecks its numerous black note books in which are kept all kinds of records. The walls here are blank except for a few calendars which are circled here and there as a reminder of certain important dates. In one empty corner, the shutter-bugs' lights stand, whose owners are the only ones who chronically interrupt the busy bookkeepers. This staff's main task is to finance the book. A great sigh of relief is heard when the last contract has been signed and the last book has been given out or delivered.

But when at last all the work is finished, the staff members are so dazed for a while because of the huge amount of unused time on their hands that they wish they might go back and begin it all over again.

EDITION OF THE HI WAYS

Plenty of work to be done in the Hi Ways office. Anyone who has had a year of journalism and who really wants to work is eligible for the newspaper staff. From September to June there is no lull, but always one continuous grind. Following are some of the interesting bits of news. After the reporters have got their "scoops" about committees, class elections, school dances, class room capers, and intramural activities, the real work begins. Every copy must be read, corrected, and reread. Typewriters keep ticking away at the copies. When the printer returns the galley sheets, the proof reader must reread and correct everything again. The make-up editor plans the arrangements of the pages and the headlines are written. The corrected "dummy" is then sent to the printer. Several days later students flock to get their copy to read "Tiger Tales," "Who's Who," "Jottings of a Newsmonger," "Student Buzz," and of course the head line news of the issue in addition to the many news items of school activities.

STUDENT COUNCIL

"SAY! do you have my French book? It has my name and room number on the inside cover."
"What does the new wood shop teacher look like?"
"Have you seen my lavender . . .?" etc? etc? If the Student Council desk could hear, these questions plus "umpteen" million more could be heard every day. As a result, the Student Council by its lost and found department really does a great service for students of W. H. S.

Many of the worth-while chapel programs are a result of the careful planning on the part of the Council. It is the Student Council that elects the cheerleaders and ushers; it sponsors pep meetings before our exciting football games and helps us pep-up our school spirit. The members of the organization also send messages of cheer to students who are ill and unable to attend school.

This governing body consists of two faculty members, fourteen seniors, six juniors, and four sophomores, who are elected by the Student body and serve until graduation. The organization meets every second Tuesday to plan the chapel programs and to carry on their activities in upholding the good old worth of the "W" and promoting the spirit of W. H. S.

THE USHERS

It is a distinct honor which the Student Council gives to every boy whom they elect to the Usher Squad. To be elected a boy must be outstanding in courtesy, neatness, and one whom the students are glad to follow as a leader. The shining buttons, neat blue and red coats, and crisp white collars add color to our assemblies, as they stand erect at every entrance. They are ever on the alert to render any service. They help to keep order in chapel and direct our guests to seats. By their service, the Usher Squad upholds the high ideals and standards of our High School, and are proud bearers of the "W"

ACTIVITY BOARD

THIS organization has a lot to do with our daily school activities. When the band or the choir needs new uniforms or robes, the Activity Board buys them. When speakers and outside programs are needed for chapel, the Activity Board plans and pays for them. When the Hi Ways is in need of money to get started at the beginning of the year, it is the Activity Board that supplies it.

The editors of the Hi Ways and the Annual are chosen in the spring, by the Activity Board, for the following year. Of course, for plays, Spring and Fall, for the Christmas Concert, and for the Spring Festival, money is needed for properties, tickets, and programs. Here again the Activity Board is called upon. The managers of these productions just mentioned are chosen by this group of students and teachers, also.

Mr. Carson, one of the five faculty members of the Activity Board, presides as chairman. Five students, elected by the votes of their fellow students constitute the other half of the organization of ten members. When a student is elected, he remains on the Activity Board until his graduation. Any student wishing to run for a position on the Activity Board must have had an average of C or higher in the previous semester's work. He must also have a petition signed by fifty students and four teachers. There must be at least one junior and one senior on the Board at all times.

The Scenery . . .

IT IS THE night of a play; the band finishes
 Overture; the lights dim; the curtain goes up.
 On the stage is the scenery; chairs, tables, windows, doors whatever the play demands. But we in the audience take all this for granted, not realizing the work that goes on unseen backstage, not realizing the stage crew has been there for many nights, making, painting, and setting up the stage settings, and then working the curtains between acts, as well as the stage lighting, footlights, and various sound effects

In chapel they must adjust the microphones, look after properties, and draw the curtain during plays or skits. They are on duty at all the club meetings and community entertainments

Each week the crew meets in a class in stage management under the direction of Miss Sara Parson. Here they learn stage planning, decorations, practice methods, and ways of stage setting for various types of productions.

HI-Y

THE Hi-Y Club cannot promise to make new men out of its members, but it does provide a chance for boys to meet in fellowship and learn a better way of life. This is accomplished by having parties, movies, and discussions on problems vital to the world in general and to the particular. Programs are planned by the executive council which is composed of the officers and three members, one appointed and two elected. Originally founded by the Y. M. C. A., it keeps in close touch with that organization and with other Hi-Y clubs in the district. A new club was recently formed in Edgewood. In addition to outside activities, it participated in numerous school affairs. Each year a dance is held in collaboration with the Girl Reserves. A Hi-Y week sponsored throughout the school, and worthy undertakings supported. The boys have the whole-hearted cooperation of the sponsors, Mr. Golden and Mr. Rodgers, in making the club one of education and, at the same time, entertainment.

OFFICERS: Pres. Don Melaney; Vice Pres. Bill Hines; Sec'y Oliver Morris Johnston; Treas. Carl Burns; Sponsors Mr. Golden, Mr. Rodgers.

GIRL RESERVES

Because of the large membership, the club is divided into two groups. Although independent of each other, these groups combine and work for the success of their annual dance. Meetings are held twice a month for each group in the Y. W. C. A. after school. At Christmas, baskets are filled for the needy. Together with their Hi-Y counterparts, the Girl Reserves spend the week the girls spend in the Y. W. C. A. and do social service work in the Y. W. C. A. hospitals. On different occasions during the year parties are held, with the Christmas and Valentine parties as the most popular. The last event of the year is the annual banquet held each spring which closes an interesting year for the Girl Reserves. They are to face life squarely and find it a joy.

OFFICERS: Pres. Ruth Steinfurth; Vice Pres. Samantha Simpson; Sec'y Peggy Rowland; Treas. Marjorie Jenkins; Sponsors Misses Steele and Smith—Soph. Pres. Helen Jaffurs; Vice Pres. June Brueck; Sec'y Helen Lehr; Treas. Clarice Henderson, Sponsors Misses Mackey, Sleppy and Dressler.

Vive La France . . .

VIVE LA France! Vive le cercle français! Thus begin the French club parties. The program usually consists of French plays or a French speaker. Sometimes there are French movies or slides and there is always a decided French influence for gaiety and fun in their dancing, and of course plenty of refreshments after the program. With a polite au revoir, the members go on their way feeling like true mademoiselles and monsieurs. These students not only get practice in speaking the language of the French, but also learn their customs and ways of living as well, in a manner that does not even hint of schoolwork.

LATIN CLUB

LATIN CLUB, as other large clubs, meets twice each semester. At the first meeting the members were entertained by two short plays, Latin songs and a "Professor Question" on Virgil. The program of the second meeting consisted of talks on the customs and everyday life of the Romans. During the second semester the students decided to combine two meetings and have in its place a Roman banquet in the cafeteria. Refreshments are served at each meeting after the program followed by a social hour of dancing. The membership is open to all students who have had two years or more of Latin or are now enrolled in the second year of Latin.

An International View . . .

HABEN Sie Deutsch gern? For all you "foreign ers" that means, "Do you like German?" Our "Bund" meets once or twice a week at school at which time German games are played and German songs are sung. If possible, German food is served, although when none is available, American cider and doughnuts are received just as heartily. The only requirement for entrance is one year of German and the price of dues.

OFFICERS: Die Fuhrerin, Shirley Whippo; Ihr erster Helfer, William Sanford; Diener von Propoganda, Richard Russell; Diener von Schatz kammer, William Yocum.

After the students have studied Spanish for one semester, they may join the Spanish Club. The meetings, held bi-monthly, are conducted entirely in Spanish. The members hear travel talks about Mexico, about the customs and daily life of our Central American neighbors. Songs such as "Linda Linda" "Alla mi Rancho Grande" and "La Paloma" seem especially beautiful when sung in the Spanish language. At their Christmas meeting, the members give a pageant of the Nativity (complete with figures and costumes) including a dance around the pinata; another, a play about the trials of an American tourist in Mexico.)

OFFICERS: Presidente, Gladys Bailey; Vice Presidente, Jaffurs; Secretaria, Marjorie Barker; Tesorero, Wilbur Trostle; Acamodadores, Bob Mitchell, Joseph Crocker. Adviser, Miss Deemer.

SCIENCE CLUB

SEVERAL afternoons after school every semester the Science Lecture Room is crowded with students either intently peering through microscopes, watching movies, interesting demonstrations, or listening to lecturers. They are the members of the Science Club, met to obtain extra information about the field into which most of them hope to enter. The programs are varied to interest members from all departments: sophomores from biology, juniors from physics, and seniors from chemistry

A Word to The Wise is Sufficient . . .

QUOTATION SQUAD

DURING the school year, short sayings and words of wisdom appear on the black boards in all the rooms of the building. These are chosen by a group of students known as the Quotation Squad. Every Monday and Thursday, the squad writes these timely sayings on the boards and in this way offers sound advice to all who read them. Captains, writers, and inspectors make up the staff whose duties respond with their titles. Groups A, B, and C manage the quotations for a month at a time, whereas the Special Day group meets with the sponsor and selects quotations for the holidays or celebrations. At some time or other everyone of us has been deeply inspired and helped by these words quoted from the sayings of various famous men.

OFFICERS. Pres. Ann McClymonds; Vice Pres. Wilma Cornistan; Secy. Gladys Bailey; Treas. Lois Stahlman, Sponsors: Misses Coulter, Wischmeyer, and McQuiston.

BOOK CLUB

ON THE third Monday night of each month the club assembles in the school library for an evening of book reviews, games, and discussions of new books. These discussions bring to light a great variety of opinions as to the merits and meanings of the books reviewed.

During Book Week the club made posters and placed them in the library and in other conspicuous locations, calling to the attention of the students the many new books in the library, especially the non-fiction documents pertaining to the present world crisis. The club at a special chapel program presented a little playlet, in which characters from certain non-fiction books came to life and stepped out from behind their covers "after hours" in the library.

OFFICERS: Pres. Carl Burns; Vice Pres. Shirley Tetley; Sec'y Evelyn Hanson; Treas. Don Melaney; Sponsor, Miss Gilmore, Librarian.

ART CLUB

WHEN the first Tuesday of the month appears, the Art Club members gather in the art room for their usual interesting meeting. Several times a year, prominent artists and critics speak at these meetings, and the members themselves supply the entertainment. At their annual cartoon party the popular drawing was a pen-sketch of the well known Simple Simon. A visit to the International Art Exhibit is one of the highlights of the year; a guide lectures to them on the paintings and the lives of the artists. All the activities of the club are centered on learning more about the world's greatest paintings, thereby increasing their fund of knowledge and deepening their sense of appreciation.

OFFICERS: Pres. Phyllis Smull; Vice Pres. Lessie Lee Bush; Sec'y Laurie Evans; Treas. Don Burroughs; Sponsors, Mr. Price and Mr. Yetter.

DRAMA CLUB

Twice each semester there may be heard at the Drama Club something like this—"Romeo, Oh, Romeo, wherefore art thou " as poor Juliet, standing on the stage, wrings her hands; or it may be one of the many tragic, humorous, historical, or modern characters who come to life at the club's regular meetings. The students who are fortunate enough to take a role in one of these productions find great enjoyment in portraying the various characters, for it gives them an opportunity to act on the stage, an opportunity many would not otherwise get. The other members of the club are the audience and because they realize the amount of work and time spent on each presentation, they make a very appreciative one. The members of Drama Club probably spend more hours in work than any other club in preparing their programs, but every hour is one of sheer enjoyment for them.

HOME ROOM MANAGERS

Early in September, before we have lost our tan and newly acquired accent, the elections for home room managers are held in each report room. These are neither hectic nor exciting, since a certain summery calm still persists around school. A week later the managers are speeding between Messrs. Carson's, Schweinberg's, and Graham's offices, selling football tickets and turning in money, losing weight and sweating over their bookkeeping.

During the year these managers either sell or help sell tickets for every school activity: the Christmas Concert, Spring Festival, plays, gym exhibits, and those mentioned above. Truly these are a loyal group carrying the traditions of the "W". Although each manager is the king of his own home room, the managers have organized to elect a super president or manager, Al Stratigos.

CHESS CLUB

FAR INTO the night a student traces strange diagrams and pores over uncouth symbols. Are they Chemistry symbols or Geometry? Oh, no. Just a chess fiend with his openings, combinations, and check-mates. These chess board strategists will usually be found either battling for places on the team, encouraging chess in this and neighboring high schools, or wildly denouncing checkers. The Wilkinsburg Chess Club, now in its sixth year, is the headquarters of the W. P. I. S. C. L. and plays each of the other six schools who are members of the League twice a year. Despite two defeats, the Red-and-Blue ended the fall campaign, tied for first place, and when the book went to press were in the lead.

GIRLS' COUNCIL

IN THE early fall, a girl from every health class is elected to the Girl's Council. They meet with Miss Reitz wherever there is an available room that will hold all thirty-two of them twice a month. Even a debate on the floor of the Senate could not discuss weightier problems or produce farther reaching results than this group of girls. They discuss the phases of such questions as personality, good citizenship, school loyalty, and behavior, that are directly related to girls. Their dues are used to send cards to girls who may be ill during the school year. Like the Senior Counsellors, this group makes school life a good bit happier for the girls of W. H. S.

SENIOR COUNSELLORS

Sophomore girls, a group of girls called the Senior Counsellors was originated. Most of these girls are seniors, though a few outstanding juniors are included. The once-mentioned bewildered ones adjust themselves to the change of school program much more rapidly with the helpful advice and clear explanations given by these big sisters. For instance, the face-reddening embarrassment that results from being forced to look behind open doors to find the room numbers is eliminated by detailed directions. Senior Counsellors are always well rewarded for their efforts by the relieved smiles of the sophomores who fully appreciate their help.

OFFICERS. Pres. Jane White; Sec'y Betty Johnescu; Treas. K. Zink, Sponsor, Miss Reitz.

COMMERCIAL CLUB

EVEN after weeks of shorthand, typing, and bookkeeping those hard-working commercial students find time to enjoy their Commercial Club meetings. At the first meeting a successful business man is the guest speaker. Or there are movies and plays which are repeated to entertain the students in chapel. After an interesting program comes the climax of the evening, the refreshments and dancing for the gourmands and the jitterbugs.

JUNIOR CLASS HISTORY

THE TUNE of "Faithful Forever" the junior class of "40", the so-called backbone of the school is stepping right along. In September we started off successfully by electing our class officers. Posters of all kinds could be seen strung along the halls. Then came the day that decided our fate, election day. What a day this was! Every junior in the school was out to have his candidate elected to an office. After election day was over, we had an assembly after chapel and there we met all our officers. In February came that big super-colossal Snow Ball, the biggest social event of the year, in our estimation. The gym looked like a fairy land with its big snowman amid sparkling artificial snow. What fun we had! In March, came that delightful Tea when all our mothers had the chance of meeting our teachers. For us there has not been a dull moment during the year of "39" and "40."

SOPHOMORE CLASS HISTORY

W. B. ... may be, was chosen as representative of the Sophomore Class. He reports that though we Sophomores were pushed and shoved by Juniors and Seniors, we believe ourselves to be something more than meek, insignificant little boys and girls, for we had the united power to elect a member to the Activity Board, and four members to the Student Council. We exhibited our dramatic talent in the Christmas Play which had a large representation from our class. We have been guided throughout the year by Joe Thompson as president, Harry Harrison as vice president, Eleanore Burt as secretary, Mary Vincent as treasurer, and Myrna Steinfurth as historian. The biggest event of 1939 was the Sophomore Tea for our mothers. Another very important event was the Sophomore Dance. After a most enjoyable year of high school work and play, we look forward to an even greater year as Juniors, as the backbone of the school.

National Honor Society . . .

The highest honor that can be conferred upon a student of Wilkinsburg High School is to be elected to membership in the National Honor Society. These students who can be identified by their insignia—a golden keystone with a flaming torch—are elected by the faculty in recognition of their outstanding qualities.

These qualities which one must possess to be eligible for membership are: scholarship—ranking in the upper third of one's class; service—willingness to render cheerfully and enthusiastically any service in school, and a readiness to show courtesy to visitors and fellow students; leadership—the ability to lead one's fellow classmates in any or all activities; character meeting one's individual obligations to the school promptly and completely, and demonstrating an honest spirit in one's class-work, and a spirit of cordiality and sincerity towards teachers and student associates.

The names of students who are scholastically eligible are voted upon by the faculty. Every year five per cent of the juniors and fifteen per cent of the seniors are elected.

An Activities Banquet, attended by members of National Honor Society, Student Council, Ushers, and Activity Board, was held for the third time this year, in the school cafeteria. Each spring the National Honor Society helps to usher for the annual Open-House. Induction services are held after the yearly elections at which time the newly elected members take the pledge of the society and are welcomed by the president. Officers for the following year are elected by the members at the picnic held at the close of the school year.

WHAT PLANS HAVE YOU MADE FOR

Those children of yours?

THEY may be carefree today — but how about tomorrow? How will they fare when you are no longer around to guide them, and to provide for them financially?

Here are a few of the questions concerning your children which merit your immediate attention:

- a. How can their education be assured?
- b. How can they be given a proper start in business, marriage and life?
- c. Who will manage your investments while they are still immature?
- d. How can payments of principal to them be deferred until they learn how to manage large sums?

TRUST SERVICE holds the answer to all of these questions. We will gladly explain how we can be helpful to you and your family.

Song Titles Take Trip Thru Memory Lane Tell Interesting Story

Listen dear readers!
And you shall hear
Songs remembered since the Beginning of my school career

When You and I Were Young Maggie, do you
Remember when we rolled along on Wagon Wheels
Down by the Old Mill Stream, South of the Border, to watch the 'Three Little Fishes'

Br—br —br —br—Then comes Winter Wonder land and all around we hear that Santa Claus Is Coming To Town. All the kids are joyously waiting to say, "Hello! Mr. Kringle."

Oh! hum—how I wish it were Springtime In
The Rockies so—just My Bill and I could chase that Little Red Fox—but all I can hear is the old Umbrella Man singing merrily on his way
March Winds and April Showers and as I look
Over the Rainbow I see Deep Purple

Deep In A Dream I can see Margie and Jeanie
With The Light Brown Hair strolling in the Easter Parade

And in the Good Old Summertime I spend most of my hours Down In The Old Swimming Hole and sitting under the Old Apple Tree

Jitterbug Days

I wish I could have lived in olden days—
I would have learned to dance the minuet.
I would have danced to the waltz and the tango
I could have curtsied deep to those I met;
I would have ridden in a gilt stage-coach
Drawn by four black white steeds that lay prance;
Young gentlemen would bow at my approach—
I'd take one's arm and join the stately dance.

But then, if this were so, I would be dead!
I could not, then, have written this great verse.
I would be now a ghost with a head!
At my appearance, friends would all be gone
These days to me I know seem so strange
But I like them all, the rubes and dudes
So I'll stay myself—a jitterbug I am,
I will meet all my friends as they come.

That Football Team

First comes our mighty Don Branzel
We think he centers simply swell.

Then Johnny Jaffurs is next on the line,
For "Casanova" the lassies do pine.

The boy who plays with all his might
Is "Nagurski" McKnight, the photographer's delight.

Our place is filled with cheer
As they wave and cheer.

Then there's Schoonover, our mighty left guard

Who's fast with the ball, and plays really hard.

Come Werner Hasselman into view
Mor'en six feet tall an' handsome, too.

Next Daugherty, tall with wavy hair
Pigskin clasped, down the gridiron doth tear

And Anderson of the reddish hair
Has a sense of humor rare

Minter is our galloping back,
Who really goes when the ball he racks

A fine player, too, we all know,
Is Tommy Mitchell, whom we all know.

Everyone's sitting scratching his head,
Thinking of something to write
Something with humor and appeal,
Something subtle, and light.
For an assignment has been made
To write something humorous and gay,
But the pupils just sit and stare
As the minutes tick away.
All at once a sound is heard
It is someone beginning to write.
But then they pause and think some more,
As the day draws near to night.

This assignment is rather hard,
In fact it's mighty tough,
But now I'm going to quit,
Because I've had quite enough

My Problem

There's a problem that's been worrying me,
When I've grown up, what shall I be?
Everyone offers such sound advice,
And I've been tempted once or twice
To follow it, but in the end,
The decision upon me depends

Handsome Hal

There was in school, one year, a boy
Whose name was Handsome Hal,
The girls all loved this daring guy,
Of all he was the pal.
The reason he was so well loved
Was easy for to see;
He was the football captain boid,
The bravest one was he.
His lessons Hal worked hard to get,
His grades were very good.
He went to church and Sunday School,
As every good boy should.

One Friday noon the football team
Worked out up on the field,
That Friday night Hal dancing went —
By this his fate was sealed.
On Saturday he played the game,
His very best he tried,
But lack of sleep his traitor was,
Ere eve' poor Hal had died.
My story's moral now I tell
I warn you grim and true,
Ne'er go dancing Friday night,
And play football Saturday, too

A boy BEATON a BILL

I CASE PROCT my son

A LITTLE BUNNY

His mother asked him, "WYLIE"?

It doesn't MATTER if you go,

COX do in the morning CROWE,

A FRANK FRENCHman told me so,

Hi de HOY di ho!

"I KINTZING," the LITTLE boy said
MEANOR than ever, he stood on his head,
Upon a big STUMP he broke his nice TOY
W... ..

I have a tiny BUNNEY
He sleeps upon my RUGG
"My PRECIOUS" is his name,
ORR SUMMtimes "Bug!"

the Northern exposure of the canyon.

1776

"TIMES that stir men's souls" -- It's always in periods of excitement that men establish real fundamentals -- as rivers purge themselves as waterfalls, not in stagnant pools

Those days of '76 were not the most comfortable. People lost their wealth, the easy tenor of their former days, even their lives. But from those days came the reestablishment of man's inherent right to his own liberty, his own possessions, the right to protection against serfdom to the State.

These days of 1940 are not the most comfortable. Now, as then, the world is in a ferment.

But that same common sense which asserted itself in those days, will again clarify today's troubled waters. We welcome the challenge of that demand. It makes for better everything, from government to printing.
